"Tattenbach the Terrible" Sending Out Reports That End of Conference Is Near.

FRANCE WILL NEVER ACCEPT

Tension Also Renewed Over the Bank Matter and Agreement as Far Off as Ever.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE HERALD.]
The Herald's European edition publishes the following from its correspondent:
ATLANTA, Ga., Tuesday.—Mystery surrounds the situation here in a rather curious manner; that is to say, whereas extremely optimistic reports are being sent out to the effect that a successful issue of the conference is near, traceable to Berlin and doubtless of Wilhelmstrasse extraction, there is no echo whatsoever of the same.

On the contrary, events have taken place which clearly show that Germany, far from wishing to put an end to the tiresome and fast growing ridiculous condition of things, is working in a remarkable way to keep the situation open.

For instance, late yesterday afternoon, to the astonishment of every one, a further Austrian proposal was issued; of course, at the instigation of Germany, having once acted as the tool of Germany by bringing forward the famous Casa Blanca proposal, which summarily put an end to any further meetings of the conference, leaving a complete deadlock, the representative of the dual empire, apparently unsatisfied with such a disastrous venture, comes up again with an even less practicable scheme than the last; namely, to drop the Swiss and Dutch officers' idea, including Casa Blanca, but leaving four ports policed by Franco-Spanish police and the other four—Casa Blanca, Mogador, Safie and Mazagan—under control of the Sultan, to put in whoever he likes.

So there is nothing in the world to prevent the Sultan putting in Germans. Can Germany for a single moment have imagined such a proposal, taking half the ports away from Franco-Spanish control and destroying their general police scheme, could have a hundred to one chance of being acceptable?

France Repudiates Idea.
As I have said before, either the German delegates here are falling entirely in their duties to their government, reporting falsely upon the possibilities of the situation, or else Wilhelmstrasse is living up to the charge made—that of wilfully putting delays in the way in order to gain time, for some unknown reason or another.

In fact, the idea has no real importance, because France will never consider it, and the proposal, beyond causing a lot of trouble and irritation and much telegraphing in the small hours of the morning, may be said to have died stillborn.

It, however, had one practical advantage—that of again showing Germany the uselessness of advancing further totally impracticable ideas. One horrible thought remains—namely, if Wilhelmstrasse thought fit to bring forward such a ridiculous proposition, can its authors have been foolish enough to imagine it a solution, causing them thus prematurely to send out reports that the success of the conference would be shortly assured? It really sounds impossible of belief.

But that is not all. Germany, wriggling to the bitter end, brings forward, this time in her own name, the bank proposal in which she proposes to take one share from France, giving to the latter the share she claims on the strength of the $10,000,000 advanced to Mazagan in September, although fully admitting at the time that no preference was attached to it. Five millions of the sum was provided by the French. Germany proposes now to have this, what may be called ordinary, stock returned to preference and thus give the shareholders a special position in the face of the Powers here.

Deadlock on the Bank Also.
Again, France is asked upon the faintest pretext to give up the principle of a preponderant vote in the bank, which, on account of her larger interests, she considers she has a right to demand. So here you have another deadlock, for the French government will not accept any such proposal.

Thus, with a double deadlock before the delegates, they ask in surprise what miracle is it which, according to German opinion, is going to lead to a speedy and successful conclusion of the conference.

It appears that "Tattenbach the Terrible" for a second time has sent out quite a misleading statement, which was published in the Cologne Anzeiger and other papers, to the effect that M. Regnault, at a recent meeting brought forward a fresh proposition as to the police. It is quite true that Count von Tattenbach in one of his too common outbursts of temper permitted himself to make that misstatement, but afterward, having become normally cool, expressed his regret to M. Regnault, who, being a man of the greatest sensibility and uprightness, was much wounded at the unfounded charge, made in a typically gross manner.

Nevertheless, Count von Tattenbach gave out the substance of his attack to German journalists without informing them of the subsequent retraction of the charge. Further comment is unnecessary beyond stating that Count von Tattenbach forms very unfortunately an incongruous delegate, not being at all the type of man to send to any conference when so much depends upon the usual traditions of courtesy. Much sympathy is felt with M. Regnault, who is very popular.

AUSTRIA TRIES AGAIN.

VIENNA, Tuesday.—Austria has instructed Count Welsersheimb, her delegate to the Algiers conference on Moroccan reforms, to endeavor to arrange for a sitting of the conference on Thursday or Friday, when he is to put forward an amendment to articles of the Austrian police proposals, providing for the appointment of a superior officer belonging to a neutral Power who will be attached to the Diplomatic Corps at Tangier and will exercise supervision over all eight Moroccan ports and the police force.

SUSPENDS PRISON SENTENCE

Local Authorities Instructed to Call on Military When Necessary in Inventories.

Special cable to La Prensa, of Buenos Aires, transmitted to the Herald for its Buenos Aires publication:
PARIS, Tuesday.—At the Cabinet council today M. Sarrien, Minister of the Interior, read a report of the incidents at St. Nicholas du Port, where two parish priests fired on a crowd during a disturbance connected with a church inventory, killing a workman. The two priests have been arrested and an inquiry has been ordered. M. Sarrien also read reports of other incidents at various points.

At Rennes yesterday a court martial was held in the case of the officers who refused to assist in taking an inventory at St. Servan. General Calvet presided, and the court was composed of the officers of the garrison of St. Servan. Major Hery was condemned to one month in prison by a vote of 5 to 2, and Captains Langavant and Spirat to one day in prison by a vote of 4 to 3. Later, by a unanimous vote, it was decided to suspend sentence, applying the "first offenders' act."

In the Chamber of Deputies in the afternoon M. Etienne, former Minister of War, protested against the lightness of this sentence. Major Hery and Captains Langavant and Spirat were placed on waiting orders by the Cabinet council today, and the other officers of the same regiment were transferred to other places. Only the minor officers and the soldiers will remain at St. Servan. Local authorities throughout France have been ordered to apply to the military in their respective towns when they need assistance in carrying out the separation law.

M. Briand, Minister of Public Instruction, asked that prefects be instructed to send to the Cabinet the names of those clergy who accept the Separation law by applying for the pensions granted by the act.

M. Clemenceau Says They Are Not Worth
Sacrificing Human Life.

PARIS, Tuesday.—M. Clemenceau, Minister of the Interior, replying to a question in the Senate today, tersely expressed the government view relative to the employment of force to carry out the inventory of church properties. "We intend to enforce the law," he said, "but the numbering of candles in churches is not worth the risk of sacrificing a single human life."

This is construed as indicating that resistance is offered other means of attaining the end will be adopted.

GENDARMES CHARGE STRIKERS.

Many People Trampled Under Foot in Mining Riots at Lens.

LENS, Department of the Pas-de-Calais, France, Tuesday.—The striking miners and gendarmes had a severe encounter today in front of the Town Hall here, where the miners' Congress was in session. The gendarmes charged several times, a number of people were trampled under foot and many arrests were made. Among those taken into custody was M. Broutchoux, president of the Miners' Federation.

The miners' Congress today rejected the companies' offer of an increase of ten per cent in wages, but the matter will be submitted to a referendum of the strikers, who now number 3,000 men.

Fire continues in the lateral galleries of the Courrières mine, where hundreds of bodies remain.

VASQUEZ GREETED IN SANTO DOMINGO

General Caceres, with Five Hundred Horsemen, Rides to Meet the Former President.

SALVOS BOOMED BY CANNON

Indian Sailor on the Dubuque is Drowned
Trying to Swim to His Ship.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE HERALD.]
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, March 19.—Horacio Vasquez, delegate to the Ciba, was received here as a conquering hero in the capital yesterday. President Caceres, at the head of about five hundred horsemen, rode twenty-five miles on the road to La Vega to meet him and to wish him on his entry to this city. Bands played at the old gate and the guns at the fort boomed a welcome of seventeen shots, which were re-echoed in a salute from the United States steamer Newport, now in this harbor. All the flags in the city were flying and many buildings were draped with bunting. Arrangements are being made for a ball at the Union Club in Vasquez's honor.

The display was in marked contrast to the arrival here of the President last month. Caceres came on horseback over the same road and few knew that he had come to the city. He then intended to resign and to have Vasquez succeed him as President of the Republic. Vasquez, however, would retain his post as long as there seemed a danger to the country in making a change.

Few here seem to know whether anything special of political significance is to be attached to Vasquez's visit. Vasquez was President for a time and was driven from power by a revolution. Although he supported Morales in the successful uprising against Wey, he would not come to the capital during the Presidency of Morales, and this is his first trip here since that time. Caceres has promised to remain President for a while, but he makes no secret of the fact that he would like to shift the burden to Vasquez, who is his cousin, and to resume the post he formerly held as delegate to the Ciba. One reason for the ovation to Vasquez is said to have been to win the support of the younger element, always the first to enter the field in revolutions.

The treacherous Ozama River has claimed its third victim within a year from the city of Santo Domingo. On the eve of the departure of the Dubuque for St. Thomas two of the crew decided to spend the evening ashore without permission. The Dubuque lay near the east shore of the river, and the men jumped into the water on that side and swam to the bank, walked a short distance north and crossed the ferry. They started back at about three in the morning, and the ferry was stopped. One attempted to swim from the side through the strong current. Their strength failed, and they were carried away. One cried for assistance. One was pulled out, but the other sank.

The body was found by an Indian named Wiley, whose home was in the Indian territory. He was near the stem of the ship when he shouted, and one of the men on the Dubuque saw him. One reason, although he could see nothing, jumped into the swift, black waters. Ingersoll was rescued after his dive when Wiley seized him from the neck. Ingersoll was free himself, and the moment he got away Wiley sank, and he was not again seen. The body was probably carried to sea, as no trace of it could be found.

Brazil Will Not Help Saravia.

[BY MEXICAN CABLE TO THE HERALD.]
MONTVIDEO, Uruguay, via GALVESTON, Texas, Tuesday.—General Aguirre Correal, the Brazilian general, has just arrived from Mato Grosso, and declared that there is no truth in the statement that the Brazilian authorities on the frontier are willing to help Marian Saravia to head subversive movements against Uruguay. Moreover, Saravia has now very few followers, and he added that the Brazilian forces along the frontier have been instructed to remain absolutely neutral.

HEAVY RAINFALL CONTINUES

Conte Michele Pecci, Greatnephew of Pope Leo XIII., Married to Sig-norina Lazzarini.

[From the European Edition of the Herald.]
FLORENCE.—The Carnival finished with great "brío." The "dants" yesterday afternoon at the skating rink was a great success. The committee arranged the rink like a large ballroom, lighted by hundreds of candles and decorated with plants and flowers. There was a splendid buffet, and dancing continued with great "en-train" until after eight o'clock.

Among those present were Princepsa Strozzi, in brown velvet; Contessa Guicciardini, in a black lace dress; Contessa Niccolini, in black and white, with her daughters, both in white; Marchesa Montagliari, in brown velvet and sables, and her daughter, in white chiffon; Contessa Ruicelli, in cendre palette; Princessa Rosau, in white; Marchesa d'Ajeta, in purple velvet; Contessa O'Orsay, in a black lace dress; Contessa Spina, in cream lace; Contessa Daterduchewsky, in a white cloth dress; Signora Annarotone, in black velvet, with her daughter, in pink and white; Mme. Lombroso, in green velvet; Contessa Fabbriotti, in a gray cloth dress; Contessa Zorretti, in black lace.

Baronne Beaulieu, in a champagne cloth dress; Mrs. Parker, in vieux rose chiffon; Mme. Peratoner, in gray taffetas; Signorina Apricena, in blue velvet; the Misses Clark, in a white lace dress; Marchesa Rossetti, in blue; Miss Thompson, in purple velvet; Signorina Strozzi, in brown and white; Contessa Ginnani, in gray crepe de Chine; Signorina Ginnani, in a black velvet dress; Mme. Black, Marchesa Roldini, in a claret cloth dress; Marchesa Manelli, in brown; Signorina Zucchi, in green velvet; Signorina Valentin, in a purple cloth dress; Signorina Fabbriotti, in a tailor made costume; Signorina Zucchi, in a gray velvet; Signorina Phillips, in a white cloth dress; and Signorina Guicciardini, in an old rose cloth dress.

The marriage of Conte Michele Pecci, greatnephew of the late Pope Leo XIII., to Signorina Elena Niccolini Lazzarini, was celebrated yesterday at Pistoia, in the family chapel, Mr. Lorenzo Bertolozzi officiating.

The Pope Plus X. not only sent a special benediction, but also a telegram of congratulation. After a short stay at the Villa Niccolini the couple will leave for the Côte d'Azur.

$120,000 for Japan's Famine Fund.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Tuesday.—Another contribution of $120,000 came to the State Department today through the Red Cross from the Christian Herald, of New York, for the account of the Japanese famine fund. This makes the total contributions from that publication up to date $100,000 and the total collections from all sources $120,000.

MRS. TEWKESBURY

GUAFES AT DELAY

Anxious to Return to England and
Would Have Extradition Hurried.

LAWYER COMPLAINS OF DELAY

Was Arrested on London Charge of Issuing False Checks, from Which She Fled.

LONDON, Tuesday.—Violet Tewkesbury, wife of Lewis G. Tewkesbury, a financier, of New York, who was arrested in Philadelphia March 16 on a bench warrant issued in New York in 1903, following an indictment for grand larceny, appears anxious to return to England from France, where she was recently arrested on an extradition warrant. Her attorney in the High Court of Justice today complained of the delay in the extradition proceedings. He said Tewkesbury had deserted his wife in France after the pair fled from England in December. The attorney applied for a writ of habeas corpus, which the court refused to grant on the ground that the writ would be ineffective in France.

Lewis G. Tewkesbury failed in 1900, leaving debts aggregating about $300,000. He finally came to England, and his first wife, Mary Mills Tewkesbury, having divorced him, he married Violet, an Indian, in 1901. In November last Mr. and Mrs. Tewkesbury were arrested here, charged with passing worthless checks, and were released on $1,000 bail each. They failed to surrender themselves December 4 and their bail was forfeited.

Tewkesbury Freed from Moyamensing on $1,000 Bail.
[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Tuesday.—Lewis G. Tewkesbury is free again. At exactly two o'clock this afternoon the former broker walked into the Bellevue-Stratford and ordered a sumptuous luncheon.

Attorney John R. K. Scott appeared before Judge Davis in the Quarter Sessions Court this morning and asked that his client be released on bail pending the hearing of the habeas corpus proceedings. As there was no opposition on the part of the District Attorney, Judge Davis consented, and bail was fixed at $1,000. After a hasty trip through the financial districts of the city, the former broker returned to his friends Scott managed to secure the necessary coin.

BRITISH SHIPPING LAWS.

Bill Introduced in House of Commons
Placing Foreign Vessels on Same Footing as English.

LONDON, Tuesday.—The long promised bill amending the Merchant Shipping acts so as to place British and foreign ships on the same footing was introduced in the House of Commons this afternoon by the Right Hon. David Lloyd-George, president of the Board of Trade.

The bill, which undoubtedly will pass, makes the British regulations concerning the overloading, undermanning and unseaworthiness of vessels, the storage of grain on board ships, the furnishing of adequate life saving apparatus and the control of emigration and passenger traffic, which heretofore have only applied to British ships, applicable to all foreign vessels using British ports.

Commenting on the measure, Mr. Lloyd-George referred to the demands for the exclusion of foreign seamen from British ships, and said he found that in 1904 there were 39,000 foreigners so employed against 17,000 British subjects. He feared that the exclusion of foreigners would ruin the mercantile marine, but under the new bill foreigners hereafter must know sufficient English to understand words of command.

EVENTS OF A SOCIAL NATURE

Bridge and Tennis Tournaments and a Cin-ments of the Visitors.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE HERALD.]
KINGSTON, Jamaica, March 12, 1906.—Encouraged by the excellent opening of the tourist season, those who are interested in the future of Jamaica as a winter resort predicted the best and longest season the island has ever enjoyed, but the most sanguine did not count upon the great rush of visitors that made this a record breaking year in every respect.

The fact that the three principal hotels in Jamaica—Constant Spring, Titchfield and Myrtle Bank—have had about all they could do to accommodate the crowds arriving by every steamer and that the smaller hotels in the out of the way resorts through the island have done better than in any previous year shows that ere another winter rolls around, bringing an influx of tourists, something will have to be done to provide more accommodations. Jamaica has suddenly become one of the most popular winter resorts in the world, and the general opinion is that another hotel will soon be needed in the vicinity of Kingston.

AMERICAN CAPITAL INTERESTED.
All sorts of rumors are afloat as to who is going to build it and manage it. Both hotels here are at present leased to an English concern, the Elder-Dempster company, and the latest report has it that an American syndicate is contemplating the erection of a large hotel, with American management, none other than that under which the Titchfield Hotel, at Port Antonio, is run.

The steamer Tagus, of the Royal Mail line, sailed for New York Sunday with the largest passenger list from the island for the season. There were a number of English tourists aboard who will stop over a few days in New York before taking the steamer across the Atlantic. The management of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company with one of the transatlantic lines to carry the passengers home, is bringing many tourists to America who would otherwise return from Jamaica by the longer route through the West Indies or by the Direct line with Messrs. Cunard.

As yet the role of travel has not turned homeward. There are more tourists arriving than leaving, but by the early part of the season the tide will be reversed. Hotels, however, have large bookings up to the middle of May.

Two bridge tournaments have been given lately at Constant Spring Hotel. Captain Watkins and Miss Ethel Musson were winners the first night, and Mr. Frederick Lee, of Mount Holly, N. J., and Mr. A. Davey won in the second tournament.

ON THE TENNIS COURT.
Tennis has been very popular at Constant Spring this season. In a tournament for the "Doubles" Mrs. A. Davey and Mr. Deery were the winners. Last Wednesday afternoon Mr. A. Davey arranged an American tour of the best players from camp. Those who participated were Major Gillespie, Captain Watson, Captain Goldney, Captain Bliss, Mr. K. Myers, Mr. Latham, Mr. Lawrence, Mr. Fraser, Lieutenant Tracey and Mr. B. I. Bethell.

The spectators included a number of women from St. Andrew, as well as visitors at the hotel. General and Mrs. Campbell arrived toward the end of the tournament. Tea was served on the veranda of the hotel, and the ladies were in the largest and most enjoyable of the season.

The steam yacht Vinella, of Mr. Morton P. Plant, has been in Kingston harbor for several days. Mr. Plant has been cruising in the Caribbean and came here from Curacao. He has as his guests Lord Athelstan, Mr. S. M. Bond, Mr. Seymour Hunt and Mr. E. Pope.

The English yacht Zenaida, with Sir Frederick Johnston and the Countess of Willton, also while harbor. The Zenaida has recently come from Tampico.

Second Carnival Ball of the Season Brings Together a Large Gathering of Prominent Residents of the Capital.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE HERALD.]
HAVANA, Cuba, March 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Harding Davis are spending a few days in Cuba, and they were guests at the banquet given by Mr. Jacob Sleeper, First Secretary of Legation, in compliment to Mr. Morgan, the new Minister.

With a few exceptions the guests were all members of the Diplomatic Corps, which has reached considerable proportions, and is a most welcome body, having introduced an entirely foreign element in Havana's social life.

The changes this year have been very great, but some of them are delightful, and this is the case with the new Mexican envoy, Señor José Godoy. Señora Godoy is very charming, and Señora Godoy will prove a most grateful addition to the younger set.

The family was six years in Washington, and Señora Godoy's resemblance to Mrs. Nicholas Longworth (formerly Miss Alice Roosevelt) has often been commented upon. She is about the same height, with light brown hair and light eyes that sparkle with fun. Her manner is charming, and like young women brought up in a centre of diplomacy, is always at ease. She is the only young woman in the diplomatic set, and she would be bound to receive lots of attention were she less charming. As it is, she ranks among the most popular young women of Havana.

TO MEET MR. MORGAN.
Mr. Sleeper gave his dinner, as is his custom, on the 17th. The Cuban and the twenty-four, was laid in the main corridor on the second floor, and the floral decorations were very effective. Among the invited officials were Mr. Morgan, Mr. M. and Mrs. Lefevre, Señor and Señora Gaytan de Ayala, Señor and Señora Godoy, Señora Godoy and Señor Francisco B. del Cid.

The second carnival ball at the Alcazar was not nearly as successful as the first. There were fully as many guests, but it was by no means as select, and many of the fashionable set stayed away; some on account of the season, and some for far advanced others because of the grave illness of the head of a large family, whose death, however, caused almost wholesale mourning for a time, and others for one reason or another.

As it was, those who went danced and enjoyed themselves till nearly three o'clock, when the last dance came to a noisy end with clashing of brass and rattle of drum.
